

GRAPES OF GOLD

H. V. ADAMS IS LYCEUM LECTURER OF GREAT INDIVIDUALITY AND OPTIMISM

H. V. Adams, who came recently to Glendale to make this place his home, and who is at present engaged in improving and enlarging his house on Elrose avenue, is a Lyceum lecturer of the best kind. He has been lecturing for ten years in connection with the Midland Bureau of Des Moines, the Coit Bureau of Cleveland and the White Bureau of Boston.

Mr. Adams was for eighteen years in Des Moines, Iowa, where he was a clergyman. During his pastorate he entered a law school and completed a full three years' course, receiving his degree, after which he became a member of the law faculty for another year.

Mr. Adams' lectures are individualized, each presenting a logically wrought out theme. They are sufficiently humorous to arouse interest. Their humor arises naturally out of the subject and adds to the value of the entertainment. In his lecture "Grapes of Gold" Mr. Adams has made a name for himself all over the country. He has delivered it more than 1600 times and has always found that it has a profound attraction for audiences who like to hear of the curative power of wholesome thinking; the real greatness of the man who builds his life on thoughts of kindness, peace and love, as contrasted with the sham greatness of the big-fisted, bullying man of war; the necessity of thinking big thoughts if we would achieve big things and the sure record on a man's face which his deep thoughts must ultimately write.

In another lecture on "Who's To Blame?" Mr. Adams discusses such questions as "Who is to blame for my failures?" "Who is to blame for my faults?" and so on. The conclusion is that a man himself is to blame for all his shortcomings.

Another lecture on "Middle-of-the-Roaders" shows the folly of extremes in anything. Another is "A Son of a Pharisee," which handles in a sarcastic manner those men who think they and they alone are right—the men who thank God that they are not as other men are; the social, political and religious bigots, who condemn all who question their dogmas and can see no light in their metaphysical mist and philosophical fog.

With regard to Glendale and its climate Mr. Adams has a great deal of praise. Some time ago Mrs. Adams went back with her husband when he went on his eastern lecture tour and thought she might stay some time in Des Moines, where her son is with his family, but the severe winter was too much for her and she hastened back to Glendale and the amenities of the foothills. They will now endeavor to bring their people out here.

"I think Glendale is an ideal climate," said Mr. Adams. "I have traveled all over the United States in the course of my lecturing tours and I have never encountered any climate that was its equal and do not think a more beautiful setting could be found for any community. When the additions have been made to our house here I am sure we would not exchange our residence and its surroundings for any part of the United States."

"I intend to make this my permanent abode and will, in all probability, lecture on the Pacific coast after a while. I like everything about Glendale. When people talk about high tax rates here they do not know what they are talking about. The rate here is much less than in the Middle West; and in like manner we pay less for water, light and gas. I think this is an ideal spot."

TAKEN ILL ON DUTY

While engaged on duty in Glendale Mr. George Churchill, chief of detectives in the service of the Pacific Electric railway, was taken suddenly sick, Wednesday, and had to give up his expedition and return home. Mr. Churchill has been a long time in the service of the railway company. Some time ago he was compelled to submit to a major operation on the stomach and has been subject to spells of faintness from heart failure. On Wednesday about 11 a. m. he came to Glendale and enlisted the aid of Captain Herald in some detective work he had been detailed to follow out in this neighborhood. While on their way to the scene of action Mr. Churchill was taken suddenly ill and got into so alarming a condition that it was necessary to get medical attention. He was taken to Dr. Flint's office, where he was restored to some degree of strength so as to be able to travel back to Los Angeles.

PRESENT BLUE BIRD

MRS. BROWN AND MRS. WEST ENTERTAIN WITH STORY OF MAETERLINCK

Masonic hall, Glendale, artistically decorated with sprays of white roses, was the scene on Tuesday of "A Pleasant Afternoon with Mrs. Wayland Brown and Mrs. William Herman West" as the Tuesday Afternoon club year book had announced. Both ladies are talented members of the club, Mrs. Brown as a reader, and Mrs. West as a soloist. The incidental music and accompaniments throughout the afternoon were played by Mrs. John Barrows, another gifted member of the club.

In the absence of the president of the club, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, the first vice-president, Mrs. Daniel Campbell, presided. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. West presented for their program, Maeterlinck's "The Blue Bird." This beautiful story was delightfully read by Mrs. Brown to the following incidental music played by Mrs. Barrows:

Dance of the Hours.....La Gioconda
The Sweet.
The Clown.
The Witch.
The Villain.
The Sweetheart.
Soubrette.

With artistic interpretation and her beautiful voice at its best, Mrs. West sang at intervals throughout the reading, the following numbers: Irish Lullaby.....Alicia Needham
Irish Folk Song.....Foote Spring
Wake Up.....Montague E. Phillips
Love Is a Rose.....Gertrude Sans Souci
My Laddie.....Tod Galloway
The Dawn.....Guy D'Hardelet
Fairy Pipers.....Brewer

At the close of the program delicious punch and wafers were served by Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, chairman, assisted by Mrs. George Mitchell and Mrs. W. P. Thompson.

During the business session of the club the following Election Board was chosen—two members from the Board of Directors, and three from the floor: Mrs. H. Lee Clotworthy, chairman; Mrs. J. W. Usilton, Mrs. P. S. McNutt, Mrs. H. D. Goss, and Mrs. C. E. Harlan.

The Literary Section was announced to meet at the home of Mrs. C. E. Anderson, 201 North Louise street, Tuesday, April 18, subject, "Biblical Literature."

Mrs. E. W. Kinney announced the meeting of the Music section to be held at her home, 1223 West 7th street, Friday, April 14, when Mrs. Bessie Bartlett Frankel, the charming curator of the Music section of the Hollywood Woman's club, will present a program of Russian music.

Mrs. W. E. Evans, curator of the Shakespeare section, announced a series of programs to be presented in Glendale by the instructor of the section, Mrs. Mazie Fullman Garrett, in celebration of the birth month of Shakespeare and the Shakespeare Tercentennial, which as follows:

Monday, April 17, at the Shakespeare Section, admittance by invitation only.

Tuesday, April 25, at the Tuesday Afternoon club meeting, a lecture-recital, "Antony and Cleopatra."

Monday, May 1, special May-day program, Shakespeare's Sonnets, at the Shakespeare section.

Monday, May 15, last meeting of the Shakespeare section for the year—an open meeting.

Mrs. Arthur Cross reported a delightful reciprocity day recently given by the Whittier Woman's club.

D. A. R. MEETING

What proved to be a very interesting meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Glendale chapter, was held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Braly, 205 N. Brand. There was a large attendance. Unfortunately, to the great regret of all those present, Mrs. Braly, who has been quite ill for some time past, with a bad attack of grip and who has not yet recovered, was unable to be downstairs at the meeting. In her absence Mrs. S. C. Lepelman, Mrs. M. D. Chamberlain, Mrs. Preston and Mrs. Chapman acted as hostesses. Three new members were admitted. Miss Annie Bartlett, State lecturer for the Daughters of the American Revolution, gave a most interesting talk on the methods employed in training aliens for citizenship. This exposition of the naturalization of aliens was particularly interesting to those present, as Glendale chapter was the first chapter in Southern California to subscribe money for the purpose of supplying this instruction to aliens. The house was beautifully decorated with roses, of which there is wonderful profusion in the Braly grounds. Delicious refreshments were served.

FRENCH HAVE PROOF SUSSEX TORPEDOED

ADMIRALTY AT PARIS HAS THIRTEEN GERMAN TORPEDO FRAGMENTS TAKEN FROM SUNKEN BOAT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, April 13.—It is stated here that the French admiralty has in its possession thirteen fragments of a torpedo taken from the sunken cross-channel boat Sussex. The torpedo fragments were of the peculiar bronze used exclusively by the Germans in their torpedoes. It is also said that some of a submarine crew had mentioned when on shore that they had sunk the Sussex. The latter story came from Hamburg by way of Amsterdam.

SAY U. S. EXPEDITION APPROACHES CRISIS

COLUMBUS, N. M., OFFICIALS STATE THAT UNITED STATES SOLDIERS ARE HUNGRY AND RAGGED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

EL PASO, April 13.—Officials of Columbus, N. M., are reported to have received news to the effect that the majority of the active advanced forces of the United States, now operating in Mexico, are in a very bad condition. They are without food as supplies are only reaching them with great difficulty and the country has little or nothing which they can purchase. The troops are now 400 miles distant from the American border and their communications are precarious. In fact the whole situation is regarded as dangerous in the extreme.

FRENCH REPEL ALL GERMAN ATTACKS

TEUTON PRISONERS TAKEN AT VERDUN WERE RECENTLY TRANSFERRED FROM RUSSIAN FRONT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, April 13.—It was officially announced here today that all the German attacks on Hill 304 had been repulsed. The Germans again and again approached the position in mass formation and again and again the French curtain of fire stopped them. The base of the hill is covered with their dead. It was discovered that many of the prisoners taken today by the French in the course of the attack were soldiers who had been recently transferred from the Russian front to the Verdun front.

BRITISH SHOW FALSEHOOD OF GERMAN NOTE

RESPONSIBLE OFFICERS GIVE PROOF THAT NO OTHER VESSEL WAS NEAR SUSSEX WHEN TORPEDOED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, April 13.—Responsible British officials state that the Germans in their desire to rid themselves of the responsibility for torpedoing the Sussex have trapped themselves. The Germans give the hour at which they state they torpedoed another vessel at the same spot as, or near where, the Sussex was torpedoed, as 3:50. The Sussex was torpedoed at 3:55 and there was not another vessel near that spot at that hour as can be easily proved.

FUNSTON DETERMINED TO FINISH VILLA

UNITED STATES LEADER MADE IT PLAIN THAT HE HAD INFORMED TROOPS BANDIT MUST BE GOT RID OF

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 13.—Gen. Funston made it plain this morning that he had instructed the United States officers in charge of the American troops in Mexico to the effect that the hunt for Villa would never cease until the bandit had either been captured or killed. Funston places no credit in the stories that Villa has been killed or wounded. According to latest advices the bandit is active in the Sierra Mojada region and is easily evading the American troops, as well as the Carranzistas.

UNITED STATES BATTLESHIPS IN COLLISION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 13.—It was officially announced here today that the United States battleships South Carolina and Michigan collided while cruising off the Cuban coast. The vessels were west of Guantanamo when the accident occurred. Neither vessel was much damaged and there were no sailors injured.

FEAR INCREASE MEXICAN BORDER TENSION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

EL PASO, April 13.—American business men who have dealt with the Mexicans for years and are thoroughly acquainted with conditions there say that there are indications that the American expedition will be withdrawn following negotiations with Carranza, whether Villa is captured or not.

READING CIRCLE GROWS

MEETINGS AT MRS. TOLL'S HOME ARE ENJOYED BY MOTHERS AND CHILD LOVERS

The regular weekly meeting of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle was held Wednesday from 11 a. m. until 2 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Toll, North Glendale. Twenty-five members enjoyed the reading and discussion of "A Sunday Morning Diversion," "For Father's Amusement" and "The Geography Lesson," included in the volume of "Misunderstood Children." A great deal of interest was roused by the recital of home problems with individual children and the discussion of methods of punishments for specific cases. The round table feature of these meetings is of the most helpful nature. Discussion is free, and many fine suggestions are offered from time to time. No questionable method passes muster, but discrimination in right and wrong methods of child culture and discipline is very rigid.

In the afternoon, Miss Carrie Ormsby of the Colorado Boulevard Kindergarten assisted the circle to an understanding of a collateral book, "Mottos and Commentaries of Mother Play." There is in the minds of many who do not understand the principles underlying kindergarten work, a lack of appreciation of the wonderful scope of educational possibilities it offers to the young child. Miss Ormsby showed how the kindergarten proceeds to educate the child in the appreciation of good music, good literature, the beautiful and best in art, not by any means neglecting ethics, form, color, number, physical development, and the relation of each individual to his fellow man and to God. The speaker demonstrated by one of the "gifts" of the kindergarten, how continuity, or sequentiality, is taught in these schools, leading the child unconsciously to realize his dependence upon God.

Though the books being read at present deal with young children, the course contains books concerning all ages. It is most comprehensive and gives practical help to all parents.

SHAKESPEARE TERCENTENNIAL

This year is one of widespread interest in anything that is Shakespearean or that in any way relates to the dramatist Shakespeare. It is known as Shakespeare jubilee year and all America is celebrating and reveling in the works of the great English poet.

It is strange in one sense to celebrate the tercentennial of a poet's death, rather than his birth, but there seems to be a nation and world wide feeling that some tribute should be paid the memory of Shakespeare during this year of nineteen sixteen, for three hundred years ago, on the 22nd day of April, 1616, the greatest poet and dramatist the world has ever known died on his fifty-second birthday.

California is especially lavish in the tributes she will bestow for there is being planned now in Hollywood a great out-door production of Julius Caesar. This will be given in the foothills of Hollywood with an all-star cast of performers.

In Los Angeles at the Mason Opera house, during the week of April 22, Sir Herbert Beerhohn Tree will be seen on the screen in Macbeth.

In order to keep this spirit of tribute alive the Shakespeare Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club will begin on the 17th of April a series of guest days in their meetings. Monday, April 17, will be a lesson on the last act of Winter's Tale. Guests to this day will be by invitation. On April 25 the section will have charge of the program before the Tuesday Afternoon club at Masonic hall. This is the meeting that will commemorate Shakespeare's birthday in Glendale and a splendid program will be announced later. On May 1st a special May day program will be given the class by Mrs. Mazie Fullman Garrett on Shakespeare's sonnets. On May 15 the section will close their year's work with an open meeting, to which any one interested is welcome. The program will be a resume of Winter's Tale and will be given by both Mrs. Garrett and class.

After all it seems that the most glorious tribute to Shakespeare is the devoted study of his works that have lasted these three hundred years—and will last three hundred years more—and longer, for Shakespeare has written for yesterday, today and tomorrow.

GERMANY AND JAPAN

To those who remember how strong an emphasis the kaiser laid on the yellow peril and how well-organized an effort he made to gain a permanent footing in the Far East by taking possession of the district of Kiao-Chow and stretching an increasingly heavy hand into the interior by means of strategic railways, it must be interesting to note the approaches that are being made to the Far Eastern nations in the German newspapers at the present moment. Evidently Germany hopes to gain the friendship and ultimately the alliance of Japan.

That may seem a singular conclusion after Japan has ruthlessly shorn Germany of her Far Eastern province and quenched the kaiser's hopes of keeping a foothold in the Far East. Yet there are indications that Germany is cautiously feeling her way toward some such consummation. The kaiser has need of friends, of all the friends he can get. He would be delighted to detach Japan from the British alliance and thereby add to the troubles and difficulties of the Allies.

This question also profoundly interests the United States. There are millions of German-Americans in the United States whose attitude and sentiment are notoriously influenced by the policy of the country whose allegiance they forswore. This large German population in the United States has found its sentiment toward Japan greatly influenced by the seizure of Kiao-Chow, Germany's naval and military base in the Far East. A large and influential body such as the German-American element cannot fail to influence profoundly the sentiment of this country toward Japan. If Germany is beginning to be friendly toward the Japanese a similar sentiment may be looked for from German-Americans.

Already German writers are sounding the way for a change of sentiment with regard to Japan. Dr. George Irmer, who spent twenty years in the German diplomatic service, states that in the future Germany must look for colonial expansion in the neighborhood of Europe and in Africa first of all. He expresses regret that Germany should ever have antagonized the Japanese or the Chinese. The Germans would fain blot out of Far Eastern minds the memory of that famous German cartoon "Die Gelbe Gefahr," which represented a panther (The Yellow Peril) stealing out silently on the peoples of the West, and under it the words "Ex Oriente Lux (Lucis)"—a word-play on the Latin saying "Out of the East Light."

Whether the Japanese can forget that and other snubs and whether China can forget the humiliation of her native soil and the humiliation of her ambassador to Berlin, in whom was humiliated the dignity of China, remains to be seen. Still the revolutions of international policy make nations acquainted with strange allies. It may be that Germany will completely readjust her oriental policy and endeavor to regain her lost prestige in the Far East and get into the commercial current there once more.

It is also significant that Dr. H. Smidt, who was in Japan at the time the war broke out, should have issued at this juncture a pamphlet entitled "Japan in the World War and the China Problem." Dr. Smidt openly advocates the formation of a German-Japanese alliance.

The truth of the matter is that Germany is in a position of perilous isolation in the councils of the world and fears she will be more so when the war is over. Her farseeing counsellors realize the necessity for new alliances and if they could detach Japan from the Allies they would score a great triumph. Japan is likely to control the markets of China and Germany is anxious to get access to those markets. After all the great war is largely commercial.

OPENING OF BASEBALL SEASON

All over the land immense crowds witnessed the opening of the baseball season Wednesday. At Cleveland, Chicago, New York, Boston, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Philadelphia and Brooklyn, the national sport blossomed forth in all its glory to the great pleasure of the interested crowds. The year promises to be record-breaking. There is plenty of money it is said in the East and the baseball fan brigade promises to be stronger than ever. The Federal league has gone out of existence and its absence from the field has gone far to stimulate a spirit of friendship between the American and National leagues.

Many of the new teams have been recruited from the Federals and have an entirely new appearance. The Chicago White Sox, the Washington Americans and the Phillies are practically the same as last year. Each of the teams is full of confidence and each is confident that it will have the honor of contesting the Red Sox for national honors this year.

Not even the war in Europe nor the little hunt after Villa in Mexico can occupy the place that baseball has in the affections of the nation. Thus the opening of the season is an event of national importance. The game has its victories less costly and more profitable than war.

In an expressive proverb the Scotch have summed up the belief that is almost universal that it is difficult to suppress evil men. They say, "It's lang ere the diel dee at the dykeside," meaning it will be a long time before you find the devil lying dead in a ditch. That would seem to apply to Villa. He is being freely reported dead and his demise is described with many vivid and picturesque details; but on the head of all the dying speeches and dying curses come other reports that he is in the Sierra mountains of Chihuahua, and that reports as to his having been wounded were cunningly circulated by himself. The whole Villa story is an example of how a great deal of history has been made and written. In the light of the conflicting reports as to the whereabouts of the bandit and his murderous crew it may be well not too eagerly to conclude that it is all over with Villa. The bandit is on his native heath and efforts to capture him there are not likely to be crowned with success all at once. There is a reward of $50,000 offered for him "alive or dead." If he were dead, it is not likely that the reward would long be unclaimed, some enterprising Mexican patriot would have courage enough to cut off the head from the helpless body of the defunct lion.

Notwithstanding recent declarations that the war must go on to the bitter end and come to a conclusion only with the final crushing of one side or the other there is no doubt that there are signs of peace. The nations cannot continue bearing the very heavy financial burden the war has created and continues to create with increasing weight. The indications of peace may seem remote; but just at present when the desperate fighting is going on it is possible that negotiations may be begun for peace. In all great wars such is the course of procedure. The end of the Boer war came with startling suddenness the moment King Edward ascended the throne and the suddenness of the end of the European war may startle the world. Germany has gained nothing worth her while, notwithstanding her forty years of preparation. She has lost all her colonies and her shipping, and is on the verge of bankruptcy. The Allies have not made all the progress they desired and their financial burdens are increasingly great. Under these conditions recent utterances of German and British statesmen may be considered as feeling the way to peace.

Now having full legal authority to do its reconstructive work in Haiti, the United States might well recall the advice, given by Booker T. Washington, that such work can be much facilitated if the services of educated and trained graduates of Hampton and Tuskegee are enlisted as subordinates of the chief white officials. Negroes might be expected to mediate between the two groups in a tactful, understanding way, since they know the differing racial viewpoints as a white American or Haitian official probably does not. Tuskegee's founder wished to show to the friends of that institution that he had been training men for something besides school teaching and farming in the South.

THE ALOE BLOSSOM

There's a tree that the fruit-trees scorn,
And plants that are scarce its peers;
For its very leaf is a thorn,
And the tardy flower of it born
But once in a hundred years.

And the flower?—No flower I know,
How magic so 'er its name,
To southward or east, can show
Such a glory of golden flame.
—W. Gershom Collingwood.

Considerably more than 10 per cent of Pennsylvania women are employed in industrial establishments, to say nothing of the thousands more who are working in mercantile houses, offices and private homes, reports the Daily Oklahoman.

TROPICO

The city trustees held the regular meeting, Tuesday evening, all members of the board being present, Chairman Daniel Webster, Charles H. Henry, Allen E. Boyce, Dr. A. O. Conrad and Fred A. Alsbach.

To the many citizens who have long since wished that the old deserted building, standing west of the Cerritos Street school, might be removed, will come the news that the city trustees ordered the removal of this long since abandoned shipping station; a relic of the days long since passed when Tropic was the great strawberry producing section in all Southern California.

Another step taken by the board was that the residence on Central avenue above Park avenue and which is situated in the center of Acacia street, be removed, as the street is to be improved and continued on into Central avenue. The residence has but recently been purchased by the city from W. J. Birney.

The Municipal Prayground fund received a donation from Trustees C. H. Henry, Dr. A. O. Conrad, Fred A. Alsbach, Allen A. Boyce and City Attorney Henry F. Goodwin, who each contributed equal amounts in liquidating an indebtedness. The recently elected officials, Mrs. Margaret E. Coleman, city clerk; Stillman E. Brown, treasurer; Fred A. Mr. W. D. McRae, of Dryden St., field secretary of the Y. M. C. A., is finding much success in his work of organizing local Y. M. C. A.'s in the Santa Clara district. Mr. McRae has already established several centers there and hopes to finish up the work so as to be home for Easter.

Mrs. W. P. Thompson of Grand View avenue, has been quite active in getting together the tennis players of the Foothills. There have been recently a number of informal games and the players are getting to know each other. The result of all this is likely to be the formation of a Foothills' Tennis club before long. The next series of games will be played on the spacious and well-appointed court at the Brand residence, Tuesday. It is expected that despite its informality it will be a very enjoyable affair.

Jack Marsh, 13 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Marsh of San Rafael street, was quite badly burned Thursday morning by the upsetting of a teakettle of boiling water. He was scalded on his right side, right arm and right leg. The burn is a first-degree burn and he is now doing nicely.

In a short business session the affairs of the club were discussed and the report of the recent concert heard. The society discussed plans for the future. The club will meet again Monday, April 17.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ringquest, the host and hostess, welcomed their numerous guests with characteristic hospitality. Special welcome was given by all to Mr. J. B. Poulin, director of the club, who was the special guest of the evening. The hostess was assisted in the reception and entertainment of the guests by Mrs. Helen I. Campbell, vice-president of the society, and by Mrs. C. E. Stanley, treasurer. Mrs. R. D. Jones gave two readings which were highly appreciated. Games were played and delicious refreshments served. The club is anxious to have a large number of associate members next year and plans were laid toward that end.

THE SINGLE TAX; WHAT IT IS AND WHAT IT WILL DO

At the Robinson home, Glendale, 114 South Maryland avenue, Saturday, April 15, 2:30 p. m., this fundamental question will be discussed by Mr. Edgcomb Pinchon of Los Angeles. Questions will be answered. Also, at the same place, at 7:30 p. m., Mr. E. E. Kirk and Mr. G. W. Patterson and others will make addresses setting forth the basic principles of a scientific land tenure by means of a scientific taxation. A general discussion is invited.

The principles of these two systems have not been essentially changed for more than five thousand years; yet all material inventions are being improved almost from hour to hour. Shall a land system by which the Pharaohs kept the Israelites in bondage still prevail side by side with the air craft of today? Shall the Rockefeller by means of the same system go on amassing their billions from the wage bond-men, women and children of the 20th century? Shall the same land and tax theories which kept company with astrology, alchemy, necromancy and the gray-bearded belief that the world was flat still govern us in a civilization that can invent wireless telegraphy? Or shall the principles enjoined by Moses on the Canaanites to establish and hold just distribution of the land be brought up to date and put into operation before the struggle for existence becomes so desperate that hope perishes from the hearts of the people? All interested in this discussion are cordially welcome.

EXTENSION OF RAMONA ENGAGEMENT

The management of Clune's Auditorium Theatre in Los Angeles, where the reigning sensation in the entertainment line, "Ramona," has been holding forth for nine straight weeks, announces that it has secured a postponement of the Chicago opening of "Ramona." This will permit of the retention of the production in Los Angeles for a while longer.

More than 175,000 people have now paid admission to see Clune's remarkable pictorial version of Helen Hunt Jackson's wonderful California romance, which has been designated by one writer as "The Sweetest love story ever told." "Ramona" is not only captivating as a story, but is massive and unique in its character as an entertainment. It has a three-hour score of the highest musical and dramatic quality, twelve reels of brilliant photodrama, called by one critic "The greatest thing yet done in Europe or America," and three dazzling, solid stage sets, the largest ever built for an American theatre.

That is to say, oftener than formerly the local editor is found calling for gymnasia, reading rooms, playrooms, something of wholesome coloring to relieve the drab monotony for young people in the small town. It has taken a long time for adults in some communities to discover why so many boys and girls leave home.

BURBANK

Roy and Curly Ogier, who had been visiting at the home of their uncle at Esperanza, near Lancaster, returned to Burbank Sunday, after a two months' stay in the Antelope Valley. They claim that the country is on the boom, the dairy business being one of the leading industries. Gasoline sells for 21 cents a gallon and the ranchers are installing electric motors to save expense.

Paul H. Lemmert, a long time resident of Burbank, died at his home on Providencia avenue, Saturday, April 8. Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Scovren-Letton-Frey Undertaking parlors at Tropic. Interment was made at Rosedale cemetery.

Result of City Election

The election was very quiet and the vote comparatively light. The successful candidates will make excellent trustees, and as the present city administration is made up of practically all business men Burbank is bound to forge ahead the next few years.

THE PROFESSION OF HOME-MAKING

"Happily the days are passing when the feeling prevails that 'anyone can keep house,'" says Miss Isabel Bevier, of the University of Illinois, in her book, "The House." "We have been a long time in learning that housekeeping is a profession for which intelligent preparation is demanded. The woman who announces that housekeeping is drudgery and that she keeps as far away from it as possible, thus confesses that she has been unequal to her task. To such it must ever be drudgery, but to her who understands the possibilities and satisfaction in a well-ordered house and gives herself to a conscientious and intelligent study of its problems, it gives an insight into and an understanding of people and things; it provides a place for the application of economics, ethics and esthetics; it yields the satisfaction of achievement and the gratitude and love of those who have shared the benefits of such a home."

These recipes include a number of one-egg cake recipes, no-egg fruit cake, and a full line of recipes on bakery and hotel pastry. James Smith holds the credit of giving the Jewish people a new recipe for making a nice and lovely biscuit, which he calls the Rabbi biscuit. His arrones biscuit with a la belle stew is a very economical stew made from left-over meat and has a nice sweet and excellent flavor that is not excelled by any stew made from raw meats.

The Pomona Review says: "James Smith has written a cook pamphlet that is useful in any home. He is worth the confidence."

BRAZILIAN SHIP HAMMOCKS

The passenger capacity of vessels is usually limited by the number of berths and staterooms the ship contains, but there is no such limitation in vessels that ply along the Amazon river. Staterooms are a superfluity in them, for they are never used except by a few travelers to dress in.

The passenger capacity of the Brazilian vessel depends upon the hanging-room for hammocks on the vessel's deck, say the Los Angeles Times. Everybody must have a hammock, for the staterooms are unbearable at night.

The Brazilian hammock is a thing of beauty, and is costly, too. The best of them cost anywhere from $100 to $500. Those made of macaieira grass, with feather lace trimmings, are deemed the best. It takes several months to make a first-class hammock. The feather work is artistic and very cleverly put together. The feathers are all in the natural colors, taken from birds of most brilliant plumage. The Indians on the upper Rio Negro enjoy a great reputation for this kind of work.

These hammocks will last a long time, although they may be in use every day.

WHAT WOULD IT LOOK LIKE?

Uncle—"Come, Percy, let's go to the house."

Percy (on first visit to country)—"Wait just a minute, Uncle John, I want to see the end of this little brook go by."

A kind-hearted little city girl, visiting in the country, saw one evening a mother hen about to gather her brood under her wings. The little girl rushed up to the hen and shouted, "Shoo, you naughty thing! How dare you sit down on those beautiful little birds?"
